Scouting to Be Given Big Boost Here

Several New Troops to Be Formed Among Boys of Sierra Madre

Scout Executive Trask Looks Over Field and Helps Lay Plans

Scouting in Sierra Madre promises to take a great forward step in the near future. Tallman H. Trask, Scout executive for the Pasadena district, spent last Friday in Sierra Madre, and was accompanied by his field executive, Mr. Ryle. After conferring with a number of business men and officers of various organizations they declared they believed the time ripe for the organization of several new troops of the Boy Scouts of America.

The first to get under way was at the Church of the Ascension, where Mr. Trask received the cordial endorsement of the Rev. H. B. Moore. At the suggestion of Mr. Trask the vestrymen of the parish voted to father a troop for the boys of the parish, and for any others who care to join. A troop committee was formed, consisting of Messrs. Walter Pochler, who is an experienced Scoutmaster and committeeman, R. E. Steinberger, Harold Davenies and Thomas Solary.

Last Monday evening the troop committee met in the Parish House with the boys, elected Tom Tyler as Scoutmaster, and Craig McLaughlin as assistant Scoutmaster. The new troop will meet on Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock. The boys below Scout age will meet at 9 o'clock on Saturday mornings as a troop of Scout Cubs.

Others interviewed by Mr. Trask included President T. M. Webster of the Kiwanis Club, Rev. Father Hyacinth of St. Rita's Catholic Church and Rev. A. O. Pritchard of the Congregational Church. All expressed themselves as willing to have their organizations sponsor Scout troops, providing suitable leadership can be provided. Due attention will also be given to the question of overlapping, so that the Troop No. 1 now sponsored by the American Legion will not be weakened. The sole aim is to provide the benefit of Scout experience to all the boys of Sierra Madre through the most logical affiliation.

For the benefit of older boys and men who might be willing to undertake positions as Scoutmasters and assistants, Mr. Trask promises splendid training courses this year. The district council will provide instruction which will enable any man interested to gain a thorough groundwork in Scout methods, so there need be no lack of suitable leadership for as many troops as can be formed here.

Europe and Arctic Tour For Summer

Miss Linebaugh Leaves Next Week for Journey Into Northland

Miss Margaret W. Linebaugh, 224 San Gabriel Court, will leave next Tuesday for a European tour that promises to be not only interesting but unusual. At San Francisco she will join a party representing the Danish Society of California who are going to Denmark for a national celebration this summer. After crossing the Atlantic she will leave the party and visit the Scandinavian peninsula.

Miss Linebaugh will devote some time to Norway and Sweden. Then she will take a steamship trip up the coast of Norway to Hammerfest and around North Cape, most northerly point on the mainland of Europe. The journey into Arctic waters suggests interesting possibilities for the hot summer season.

About three months will be required for Miss Linebaugh's journey. She will be on leave of absence from the offices of Tarr & McComb, where she has been an important factor of the organization for many years. During her absence Mrs. Linebaugh, her mother, is visiting relatives in Texas.

Final Summons For D. G. Coover After Long Fight

D. G. Coover, a resident of Sierra Madre the past three years, passed away Monday morning at his home, 101 East Alegria Street. He had been in failing health for a number of years.

For several years Mr. Coover was engaged in the advertising business in Los Angeles with the firm of Foster & Kleiser. His passing cuts off a promising business career, as he was a young man of unusual ability with a capacity for making friends which leaves many to mourn his loss.

In addition to his devoted wife, Mr. Coover is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Coover of Denver who arrived Wednesday morning to attend the funeral. The remains were taken to the Grant funeral parlors, and services were conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers on Thursday by Rev. Dr. Robert Freeman of Pasadena, interment taking place at Forest Lawn.

New Officers Are Elected By P. T. A.

Mrs. Stimling Will Be Head of School Cooperative Workers

Election of officers for the Parent-Teacher Association took place at the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon. The new corps of officers consists of Mrs. Joe Stimling, president; Mrs. George McRoberts, first vice president; Mrs. Harry Holland, second vice president; Mrs. James Heasley, secretary; Mrs. Eva Moore, treasurer. Because of the press of work in connection with the public dinner the same evening, the association did not take time for other business or program.

Nearly 200 persons enjoyed the Plunkett dinner and entertainment program at the Masonic Temple Wednesday night under auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. The menu was made up of items contributed by various food producers, and their merits were set forth between courses.

W. R. Humphries was master of ceremonies for the program, introducing the various numbers in a manner to keep the audience in the utmost good humor. The program included songs by Mrs. Randolph Wood, with accompaniments by Mrs. George Morridge, readings by Mrs. Cecily Allen, harp and violin numbers by Gertrude Rich and June Pier, whistling solo by Melvin Wright, and songs by the "Plunkett Quartet," James Heasley, Clarence Noshier, David Buchanan and Jack Buchan.

Mrs. R. R. Moreland, retiring president of the P.T.A., expressed the gratitude of the officers for the cordial cooperation given on all sides, especially by the Masonic lodge in the free use of the temple, and the publishers of the News for publicity support.

Pictures Needed For Visual Work In the Schools

Magazines for visual education are much in demand at the public school, according to Miss Elizabeth Steinberger. Persons having numbers of pictorial magazines which they are willing to contribute will confer a great favor by bringing them to the school, sending them by pupils, or notifying Miss Steinberger if they have no means of transportation.

Travel Magazines such as the National Geographic, Asia, Travel, Illustrated Weeklies and art magazines are especially desired. This department of the school equipment is being built up nicely and many people will doubtless welcome the opportunity to help.

School Notes
This week completes the ninth month of school. Every room is working busily to complete the year's work.

The art work is now handwork — book-binding, weaving, constructing house according to scale, etc., etc.
"That our teachers are up-to-date and keenly alive in their work is proved by the fact that every teacher has taken one or more university extension courses during the year. These courses are extremely practical and good results are shown in the class rooms.

Several classes are completing very interesting projects, well worth coming to see.

Annual Sale Of Flanders Poppies Soon

Receipts Used for Veterans' Aid and Child Welfare Work

Offers Opportunity to Show Gratitude to Dead in Flanders Fields

In Flanders' Fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place. And in the sky
The larks, still blithely singing, fly.
Scarce heard among the guns below.
We are the dead! Short days ago
We lived, felt down, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved. And now we lie
In Flanders' Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' Fields.

The annual sale of Flanders poppies by the American Legion Auxiliary will begin next week and continue until Memorial Day, May 30th. Every poppy sold by the Sierra Madre unit this year has been made by a disabled non-compensable ex-service man or woman of the World War, the proceeds from the sale of which are in many instances the only money received by them during the entire year. The little paper poppy is made to represent those flowers floating over the graves and between the crosses of the 100,000 men of the United States who now lie in Flanders' fields.

In addition to helping the ex-service man and woman rehabilitate themselves through the sale of this poppy, 40 per cent of the proceeds received by the units is turned into the state and national departments of the Auxiliary to be used exclusively for our child welfare work. The 60 per cent remaining will be used, jointly, by the Post and Unit exclusively for the welfare of the disabled in Sierra Madre. The sale of these poppies is not a California project but is prevalent throughout every state in the United States of America during the week preceding Memorial Day.

It is the hope of Sierra Madre Auxiliary that the public may respond gladly to this sale and thereby help them to their "bit" toward the child welfare program and allow us to do for them that much more for the disabled in our midst.

Rich Treat Is Offered Club Women

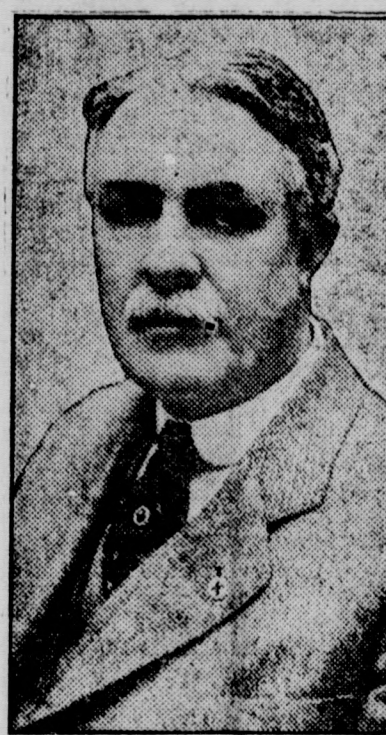

Program for Next Wednesday Includes Variety to Suit Everyone

Flood control, current events, book reviews and a literary lecture will make up a full day of interesting things for the Women's Club next Wednesday. The book section comes first in order, with an important business meeting at 10:30, preceding the review of several interesting volumes by Mrs. Jack Valley.

Luncheon will be served promptly at 12:30, the special guests being Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McMillen. The former will speak at one o'clock before the current events section. His topic will be by-products of flood control from the standpoint of economics, recreation, and protection. Mr. McMillen and Bradley R. Metcalf of Sierra Madre are the only two members of the county flood control organization who have been with it from its inception twelve years ago.

After the address, Mrs. Lawrence, section chairman, announces a round-table discussion of California reapportionment and state division, and club reapportionment and federation division. Participating there will be several women who attended the recent state convention in San Diego where the issues involved received chief attention.

Dr. Frederick P. Blanchard of the University of California at Los Angeles will be the speaker at the 2:30 meeting of the club. His topic will be "Fashions in Fiction." Dr. Blanchard is professor of English and chairman of the English department of the university. He is the author of well known text books, and has recently won much attention by his fine work, "Fielding, the Novelist," published by Yale University Press. He comes highly recommended as a lecturer of ability and charm.

Well Known Speaker Here On May 29th

Dr. Thomas Green to Address Members of Kiwanis Club

The Sierra Madre Chapter of the Red Cross will be host on May 29 to Dr. Thomas E. Green of Washington, D. C., director of speaking service for the American Red Cross, it was announced today by W. R. Humphries, chairman of the local organization.

Dr. Green will address the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club and the schools. His topic will be the present-day activities of the American Red Cross and the place it occupies in our national life as the greatest of our humanitarian bodies. Dr. Green is well qualified to speak on this subject, having devoted practically all his time to the Red Cross since 1917.

A speaker of unusual charm and force, Dr. Green has for 20 years occupied a unique place in American public life. While holding no outstanding public position, probably no one man has had a wider hearing or exerted greater influence than he. In every state he has spoken before civic clubs, universities, national political gatherings, scientific and patriotic societies and conventions.

He has been so much in demand as a speaker that he and his work are known almost wherever there is an intelligent American public. His services in behalf of international peace and other humanitarian projects have gained world-wide appreciation. Three foreign countries have decorated him as a recognition of his conspicuous service, and he was recently elected a Chevalier in France's Legion of Honor, which country also decorated him with its medal of honor.

Dr. Green is a thirty-third degree Mason, and is an officer of many patriotic organizations.

College Women Name Mrs. Carew As Club President

Mrs. Harold D. Carew of Sierra Madre was elected president of the College Women's Club of Pasadena at the annual meeting held last Friday. Mrs. Carew, who is a graduate of Boston University, was chairman of the club's calling committee during the current year, and was also chairman of the May breakfast, which was given to aid the scholarship fund. The club has enjoyed a large increase in membership during the past year and carries on a variety of activities. Social meetings with cultural programs, book reviews, student aid and cooperation in the council of social agencies are among the things to which the club devotes its efforts.

Russell's Work Among Exhibits Of Cartoonists

Bruce Russell of Sierra Madre is one of the exhibitors at the first exhibition to be held by the Cartoonists Club of Southern California now in progress at the art galleries of Otto H. H. Los Angeles. Fifty artists are represented, the number including the men who produce the most famous comic strips and general newspaper cartoons in the country. Mr. Russell is one of the staff artists of the Times, making a specialty of sport subjects and cartoon portraits.

Stunts With Liquid Air Are Amusing

Prof. Watson Entertains the Men's Club and Adds Plea For Scientist

Auer Trio Furnishes Fine Music on Dinner Program

Liquid air and the changes in familiar substances at very low temperatures formed the basis of a highly fascinating demonstration before the Men's Community Club in the Congregational Church last night, at the hands of Prof. E. C. Watson of California Institute of Technology. The occasion was the regular May dinner of the club, a delicious repast being served by a section of the Woman's Society of the church.

Delightful musical numbers were furnished by the Auer Trio, consisting of Miss Mildred Auer, violin; Mr. Leland Auer, trumpet, and Miss Marguerite Auer, piano. George B. Morridge, president of the club, claimed the privilege of introducing them to the club for their first appearance before a Sierra Madre audience. The enthusiasm with which their numbers were received indicated the conviction of the audience that they would be a very important addition to the musical life of the community.

Rev. A. O. Pritchard, pastor of the church, made announcements regarding the progress of the building and plans for services in connection with the dedication which will take place on June 3.

Prof. Watson brought to the meeting a large container of liquid air, with apparatus for a demonstration of its peculiar properties. The lowest natural temperature recorded on the earth's surface, he said, was about 98 degrees below zero, in northern Siberia. By comparison, liquid air boils at about 300 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

New Paving Finished In High Region

Many Attractions in Foothill Tract by Reason of New Improvements

Alta Sierra Madre seems now about to come into its own as one of the most beautiful residence sections of the entire foothill region. Contractor Cole is putting the finishing touches on the street paving and the public will soon be admitted to see what has been accomplished there.

The paving contract includes all the streets above Carter Avenue in the district from Baldwin Avenue west to Hermosa and Scenic Point. Heavy oil macadam paving is used, with curbs and gutters. Water and gas pipe lines were laid before the paving was started.

The crowning achievement is in the elimination of all overhead wires in the Scenic Point section. Electric light, power and telephone wires are carried in underground conduits. Consequently there are no unsightly poles and wires to spoil the marvelous views which motorists drive many miles to enjoy from this vantage point. Bronze lamp standards with approved electrolights furnish the street lighting.

Col. H. B. Hersey, superintendent of the United States weather bureau in Los Angeles, is the latest citizen to erect and occupy a residence in the Scenic Point section. His Spanish type home is a handsome addition to the Sierra Madre homes of the better class. His residence fronts on Hermosa Avenue, and his grounds extend down into the valley to the west, where he already has a young orchard growing.

Philip C. Carter and W. R. Humphries have new Spanish type homes in the neighborhood. Louis Denni has his large tract in constantly progressing development. And a new residence has just been started on Carter Avenue by John Froelich.

Sierra Madre residents who have not kept in touch with recent developments will be well repaid by a journey up there as soon as the streets are opened to travel.

Comedy and Music Offered by the Girl Reserves

"Orchids," a charming comedy by Margaret Cameron, will be given Saturday night in the Woman's Club house under the auspices of the two local groups of Girl Reserves. Two one-act plays will be presented by players from the Pasadena Community Playhouse, ensuring a fine production.

In addition to the play, a varied program of music will be heard. This will include numbers by the Congregational school orchestra, directed by Gus Riherd; reading by Sadie Sellers; Floradora Sextet, a comedy chorus of Muir Tech girls, and a violin solo by Roland Charles Gundry, the talented five-year-old son of Prof. Theodore Gundry.

Proceeds of the entertainment will go toward the pledge made by the Girl Reserves to the building fund of the Congregational Church.

New Service Station Will Be a Model

Milt Steinberger Will Separate Station from Ford Agency and Garage

Milton Steinberger will proceed immediately to erect a new service station on the lot he recently purchased at the northwest corner of Central and Auburn Avenues. The station will be an all-steel and glass structure, of the type used by the Standard Oil company. In fact, it will be installed for him by the Standard Oil station department.

Graveled drives, lawn areas and picket fences will help to make the place attractive. Outside air and water connections will be provided. Comfort stations for men and women will also help to supply a local public deficiency.

For several years Mr. Steinberger has been an exclusive Standard Oil dealer, and will continue this policy at the new station. He will largely discontinue the service station business at the Sierra Madre Garage, because of the better facilities he can provide at the new location.

Alterations are already under way in Mr. Steinberger's garage building, as Mr. Steinberger plans to vacate the Kersting building at the corner of Central Avenue and Windsor Lane. His own building houses approximately half of the present establishment, and with the service station business operated separately he will be able to take care of his Ford agency and general repair business to good advantage in the building as it will be rearranged.

George S. Barr Called to Rest; Burial on Monday

George S. Barr, a resident of Sierra Madre for four years, passed away Friday, May 11, at Norumbega Sanitarium, Monrovia. He had been ill for several years and was taken to Monrovia as his condition became more serious toward the end. He was 34 years of age and a native of West Virginia.

While actively engaged in business Mr. Barr was a hardware salesman. He is survived by his wife and four children, Jane, Barbara, George, Jr., and Patricia. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hagan Barr of Los Angeles.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Ray A. Grant. Services were conducted at the Church of the Ascension on Monday by the Rev. H. B. Moore. Interment took place at Angelus Abbey, Compton.

Young Mother Passes Away

Mrs. Madolin V. Bell, wife of Emerson D. Bell, passed away on May 10 at the residence on West Mira Monte which they had occupied the past six months. She was a native of Maine and was 23 years of age. She was the mother of twin boys eighteen months old who are left as a comfort to their father. The body was taken to the Ray A. Grant funeral parlors pending interment at Inglewood, their former home. Rev. W. D. Ogg of Bethany Church conducted the services on Saturday.

Ventura taxpayers have voted bonds in the sum of $100,000 for additional grammar school facilities.

Legion Very Active For Public Good

Allen T. Bixby Gives Kiwanis Club New Insight Into Varied Work

Civic Improvement Is Made Foremost Object of Consideration

New ideas of the aims and activities of the American Legion were imparted to the Kiwanis Club on Tuesday by Allen T. Bixby of Pasadena, past commander of the department of California. Mr. Bixby was presented to the club by George Norris, chairman of the committee for the day.

"Community Betterment" is the keynote of the Legion work at present, declared Mr. Bixby. Immediately following the war it was necessary for the organization to devote itself largely to legislation and government administration touching the readjustment and rehabilitation of returned soldiers. Even so, this work was never of a character to justify the term "treasury robbers," which was sometimes applied.

In more recent times the Legion has turned more and more to local civic activities. He recited numerous instances where swimming pools were built, playgrounds started, service clubs organized to promote better community feeling, Scout troops sponsored, and many other things of genuine public value accomplished. All these have been done in addition to meeting the constant problem of looking after the sick and needy among their own number. One of the most important activities, about which little can be said, is the attention the Legion gives to ex-service men who find themselves behind the bars. No effort is made to get them out, but their interests are looked after, and as soon as their term expires a helping hand is extended with a view to getting them reestablished as useful citizens.

Mr. Bixby is a forceful speaker whose words carry the conviction of sincerity. He was accorded enthusiastic applause at the close of his address.

Former residents of Missouri will gather at Bixby Park, Long Beach, all day Saturday, May 26, for their annual picnic reunion. A program of song and oratory will follow the basket dinner at noon.

W. B. Temple, manager of the C. F. Lamb Company funeral chapel, is confined to his home at 304 West Central with an infected foot, resulting from a slight injury.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rumble of Los Angeles have leased the Halsey home at 57 West Grand View. Mr. Rumble is a civil engineer and is connected with the engineering department of the city of Los Angeles.

More Teams Wanted for Ball League

Business Men and Students Turn Out for Practice at School

Great Enthusiasm was shown at the last baseball practice held on the public school grounds. Something like forty men turned out to limber up and show their interest in the twilight league which is proposed to be organized.

Formation of a local league with at least four teams will be attempted, according to Waverly Pratt, who was one of the prime movers in getting the thing started. Investigation has proven that a suitable field for playing regulation baseball cannot be provided without prohibitive expense, so "playground" or indoor baseball will be used. This is the game most frequently used by business men's leagues in the nearby towns. It is hoped that teams will be formed to represent the Kiwanis Club, Fire Department and the various church groups.

Tuesday and Friday afternoons were selected as regular practice nights. The hour is 5 o'clock, and the place the public school grounds on North Hermosa.

Reservations

By J. R. E.

The conductor of "Reservations" is more than glad this week to turn over the "kolm" to good friends who have their own ideas upon civic development. Their communications open up much good territory for friendly debate, or commendation, and communications bearing on the subject of school development will be gladly welcomed. It seems an opportunity to sound public sentiment, and if enough interest is manifested, it is difficult to see how the issue can be evaded much longer.

J. R. Eastwood, Editor. "Reservations."

Dear Sir: Referring to the comments in your column on the school facilities of Sierra Madre, I feel justified, as a taxpayer, in commending your attitude. While I have no children to educate, I am an American citizen, desiring to live in an American community that grants to all children an opportunity for a good solid foundation on which to build their life work.

Now the condition as I see it, from an educational standpoint, is phans to community spirit, they little city along other lines. Why, I do not know, but I do know that the young people of this community are being robbed of their just heritage. They are orphans to community spirit, they have no school in which to center their loyalty and patriotism for their home town, they have a very pretty place to sleep and eat in, but their school is the center of all their activities, all their young friendships, that are a joy through life, and the foundation of the building of character.

The older people are barred from entering into their social affairs and watching their progress from year to year which is most interesting to not only parents but their neighbors and friends.

Now from a financial standpoint, we are all interested as well. The taxpayers' money is going to Pasadena, the parents' money is not only going there but a good deal more of it is going to the transportation companies. All this is leaving Sierra Madre to our disadvantage, aside from the loss attendant upon their not being with us and part of our community life. Loss does not stop here. Can you estimate what it is taking out of the home, and what it is taking out of the lives of these young people, starting early and getting home late; no opportunity for helpfulness in and about the home, the wear and tear on their nervous systems, catching cars and busses—the entire upheaval of the home regime, which is quite a difficult problem at best under present conditions.

No community of American citizens should allow such a condition as this to exist. We need a school—not only a junior high but a school from the primary up to and including senior high (I do not include the kindergarten for I believe that every home should take care of its own kindergarten.) The salaries paid teachers today by the taxpayers I believe justify them in turn expecting a teacher to be able to handle more than one line. For instance a teacher could certainly take care of the rudiments of chemistry, physics and allied sciences in a small high school, as a teacher could teach history, literature and English, and the laboratory necessary for high school work is not large or elaborate.

Here where every child has play space and hills to climb both coming and going needs not either time or space to any extent given to gymnastic equipment.

Now this high school should be on the accredited system so that every young person would be fitted to enter college or University in any part of our country, and those who wish to specialize before graduating have Polytechnic and other special schools near by to which they can go.

The city already owns a fine site centrally located; we have a volunteer fire department, a volunteer city council and we believe this council could draft three men of known financial understanding, without personal prejudice, to assist them in taking up the matter of our present tax system and the handling of the taxes rightfully belonging to the city of Sierra Madre, find our bonding capacity for this particular part of city expense, start a campaign immediately for these bonds and let the young people put this over. I have found young people like to do big things and can do them with a very little guidance from their elders. They are bonding themselves; we are behind them. Pads can be dispensed with. I do not believe that Sierra Madre has any ambition to be classed as a fashionable community and this school can be built along lines suitable to this particular community, sound, substantial and artistic, going back to first principals in real American education. A bible in each room, with one text for the day on each blackboard, might give the children a hint of what and where our ancestors found their inspiration for the big things they accomplished, and at the same time be an anchor for their questioning minds.

M. P. M.—Marlborough Terrace.

Sierra Madre, Calif., May 15, 1928.

Dear Editor "Reservations":

I have been following with a great deal of interest and very much approval your recent articles in the News relative to the school situation in Sierra Madre. Your remarks strike me as being very timely and very pertinent.

When we (as new-comers to California) first saw Sierra Madre some eight years ago it struck us as the kind of a town we would like to live in and work in. We have had no change of heart since. We like our neighbors and we like our townspeople. When we were finally able to get a transfer to Sierra Madre about four years ago our schools here took care of pupils up to the high school grade and there was agitation at that time for a high school also. Since that time the "urge" for a high school has vanished and we have also lost our seventh and eighth grades, leaving us only school accommodations for the lower grades. This is a wrong condition for any town or community that wishes or expects to grow and prosper. One cannot help wondering what would happen to Los Angeles or Pasadena or Long Beach if their schools were taken away.

Further than this our chamber of commerce puts out a delightful little folder descriptive of Sierra Madre in which it advertises "Excellent school facilities for pupils of all grades." Don't misunderstand me now; I am not "knocking" on the chamber of commerce. I have been a member of the organization a good part of the time since coming to Sierra Madre and am in full harmony with its plans for improvements, and with its present management. The point I am wishing to make is just this: If we are going to advertise "Excellent school facilities for pupils of all grades" we ought to make good on the advertising.

Further than this—during the past year family after family has left our town to locate where they could be nearer school for the youngsters; others are leaving now and still others will leave if school facilities are not supplied.

Yes, we like our neighbors and we like our townspeople, but we can't help thinking (as we are sure that a great many other home-owning parents with youngsters of school age are thinking) that Sierra Madre ought to be a REAL town, with our own schools.

Why not a Junior High School—NOW?

Very sincerely yours, Frank E. Gibson.

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

With the majority of the Fire-boys aboard, and with "ePte" at the helm, the big red wagon was steered to the corner of Sierra Madre Avenue and Live Oak. Teams were picked from among the boys to determine which team could make the quickest "hook up" and last Friday's practice proved a very beneficial one, with good time accomplished. After a long and serious drill, Assistant Chief George Norris ordered a halt and Louie Karger introduced Gordon Brooks to the art of replacing the hose in the provided compartment of the truck. Gordon insists that it is a most difficult procedure and suggested that Louie continue to perform the very tedious manipulation. Louie said "Dot's right, you vas too young to do dot, anyway, yet!"

The usual rousing meeting was held, but without the presence of our very good secretary. He came in later; almost too late. Gordon Brooks acted as secretary "pro tempore." Several of our faithful were caught without the required tinfoil and gladly paid the fine imposed on them. Tom Schwartz presented a sufficient amount for several meetings, and although others claimed an interest in Tom's roll, they were denied the allowance and paid their fines.

Our good old, young, "and much loved friend, "Art" Udell, paid us a visit and he held the boys spell-bound with his talk on his experiences and how glad he was to be able to visit us in our fine quarters. Art is looking better than we have ever seen him look in the past eight years. We heartily wish him continued success.

Ralph Stewart, a representative of the American Legion, visited us and told of a plan to organize a committee consisting of two members from each organization in Sierra Madre for the sole reason of boosting the city. George Norris and Jim Heasley were the choices of the firemen's organization.

The meeting was carried thru the regular routine, even to the motion to adjourn. Sorry to divulge, but this instantly caused consternation. I never did really learn the truth as to whether seven or eight fellows endeavored to put Louie down the chute, or whether Louie tried to put the seven or eight fellows down. At any rate, at the final finish, Brooks was down and Louie was out. After a very strenuous struggle for at least ten or fifteen minutes with George Norris, Gordon McMillen, Tom Schwartz, Don Hosford, Jim Heasley, Gordon Brooks and others riding on his chest, Louie threw Gordon down the chute and then gasped for mercy to the extent that he was out for the count. After a short period of first aid application by George Norris and a bucket of water in his face by "Someone," Louie was finally seen to breathe again and after a few sonorous efforts at breathing he finally came back and looked natural. It seemed to improve his mind, for he played a better game of 500 thereafter.

The eats for the evening were supplied by the Babbitt Company and were very extra fine.

A number of the fire boys are making an effort to play ball again. Each Tuesday and Friday evenings are the practice evenings. Five o'clock is the time. Be there and see the fun. The public school ground is the place.

Had a very nice trip Sunday with my neighbor as the host, and driver. We left the heavily traveled highways and sought the dirt roads and wild country. There is plenty of real west and unspoiled country in California yet. What a thrill it was to arise before daylight and get started on our journey before daylight, also, and to see the sun peeking thru the fog and to breakfast on our way. Arriving in the former habitation of the nearly extinct Indian, one feels sort of haughty as he looks over the reminding tokens left behind. One sees their carvings on the rocks, painted rocks, and the holes that were used to grind their grain can be seen in rocks all about you. I can almost see a village of Indians around me. What a sight to see family after family of quail run before you, and turtle doves by the score. I saw enough rabbits to make a fellow jump in his sleep. Going from one district to another we at one time stopped at Cahuilla, where Ramona is supposed to be buried. At any rate that's what the Southern California Auto Club sign indicated.

We entered the cemetery there, failing to find Ramona's grave, but that's no sign it wasn't there. I was telling Joe Eastwood about being at Ramona's burial place and he said: "Why, when did she die? I didn't even know she was sick." Well, maybe she isn't dead; I don't know.

Chief Richards urges everyone to continue with the present fire precaution. This is the time of year when the fire alarm is sounded quite frequently, and to date for this season we have not had a call. The fireboys appreciate the efforts of the community to keep down fires. We are plenty willing to do our utmost to fight fires, but it helps the entire community as well as us when we have few fires to fight. The dry grass is very inflammable now and will require carefulness when you are near it with lighted articles, such as matches, cigarettes, etc. On behalf of Chief Richards and his aids, we thank you.

Fire's out!

DOING US A FAVOR

SOME folk try to help the newspaper publisher through life by causing him to laugh himself to death. Here's a typical instance:

"Oh Mr. Editor; here's material for another story you can publish about the bazaar our club is giving. We want to raise money to buy a new set of bridge tables and covers, and we want everybody in town to know about it. No, we can't afford to run an ad in the paper. The news article will be enough. We were going to have you print some dodgers and window cards. But Mr. Squeezit, printer down in the city, is a friend of daddy's, and he gave us some cardboard scraps for scorecards at one of our parties, so we thought we had better return the favor and let him do the printing for this bazaar. I surely hope you and your wife can come to this bazaar for it is going to be swell, and we'd like to have a good writeup about those people who are coming over from Hollywood to put on a number. I'll get all the information about them for you."

No, dear reader, that imaginary conversation is not overdrawn. Conversations across the counter of the News office during the past month would furnish parallels for everything in it. They would go further and include invitations to one or more of the office force to help furnish entertainment at the events for which free publicity was sought. What a spur to the publishers' sense of humor!

The News has always been generous in the amount of space given freely for advance news stories of revenue-producing events. Foolishly so, it would seem, if judged by the degree of appreciation shown chiefly by its absence.

It is difficult to lay down a fixed rule as to what is news and how much of it is advertising, or how much should be spent for promotion of such events. The News will continue to recognize whatever news value there is in any public event. But there are times when generosity ceases to be a virtue. Hereafter the attention given to events of the class mentioned will bear some relation to the extent to which the News office shares in the promotion expenditures which may be made.

A SUMMER JOB

THE boys and girls of Sierra Madre want and need a swimming pool. It would be one of the greatest assets within the means of the city of Sierra Madre to acquire. It is something the city can afford, and ought to be made a reality without delay.

The pool question is one of the legacies bequeathed to the new city council. And they are showing a commendable disposition to take it up for settlement without delay.

The News has advocated a pool for a long time without being committed to any particular site. Whether in the canyon or on the city property along East Grand View, the News wants A POOL.

Some elementary considerations should govern in the establishment of the municipal pool. Access by automobile must be easy, with ample parking accommodations. A swimming pool is bound to become a community center where this feature will be increasingly important. The pool must be in accord with approved designs laid down by park and playground experts. By far the greater part of the people who use a pool are non-swimmers or spend a large part of their time in shallow water. Deep water divers are comparatively few and require a relatively small area.

If the swimming pool requires a bond issue, the summer time is the time to put it over. That is the time when interest is naturally greatest and the need is most keenly felt. Now that the thing is definitely before the council, let's keep at it until it is settled.

UNDERSTANDABLE TAX LAWS

WHAT this country needs more than anything else in the field of taxation, says the California Taxpayers' Association, is a simplification of the tax laws, common-sense thinking, coupled with efficient and intelligent administration. Involved laws and rules governing taxation have caused much dissatisfaction.

The individual should have some idea of how much tax he will have to pay, without having to employ an attorney to aid him in the making of calculations. Our courts are crowded with tax questions and interpretations of laws. This creates an element of uncertainty which is very disconcerting, both to public officials and to taxpayers.

Our tax laws should be simple and understandable, so that all of the people know what they are paying all of the time.

ROBBING BIRDS' NESTS

(Punkte Journal)

JUST at this time, an exchange observes, one of the favorite spring pastimes of the old-time boy was to hunt birds' nests. Most country boys at some time have set out to make collections of birds' eggs. Some of them did it in a rather thorough way, studying the habits of the various birds and acquiring useful information. But of course there were many more who robbed the birds of their eggs out of pure heedless cruelty, ignoring the suffering of the parent birds who flew around in agonized fear for their coming offspring.

But although it seemed a pretty sort of sport for the boys of that age, it was a most harmful one. It helped to reduce bird life. We must protect the birds to save our crops. The laws of most of the states forbid this practice now, and parents and teachers should teach the children the birds are our friends who must be protected, and that we should not more steal their eggs than we should go into some farmer's barn and carry off one of his calves.

Locally there are several boys who kill birds about town, using airguns and slingshots. These boys should be arrested and punished. Bird life in California, the playground of the United States, in large measure preserves our great wooded sections and every bird that flies should be protected.

COST OF WAR

(Hemet News)

THE League of Nations has just published an official compilation showing that the World War cost 10,135,000 human lives. To this figure is added increased civilian mortality of 6,016,000 directly attributable to the war. The statisticians estimate the diminution of births as a result of the war amounting to 20,850,000—a total cost to humanity of 37,000,000 lives.

And for what? After ten years the world still totters over the war precipice, and has made no appreciable progress toward maintaining international peace. Every nation in the world except the Netherlands and Germany are bending every energy to increase air fleets, armies, navies and defenses against threatened aggression.

The world has not been made safe for democracy and the right of self-determination has become a pitiful joke, while politicians quibble and quarrel over means and methods that mean nothing.

The cost and the loss in human lives and property should serve as a sufficient warning that such cannot and will not endure. In every nation of the world there is a growing discontent and protest against the war burden, and the nation or nations that persist in the policy of force instead of justice, value instead of virtue, will be the first to crumble under enlightened public opinion.

Observations

(By G. B. M.)

Tourists No Longer Exclusive Industry—

Reminders are constant that the southwest is rapidly developing as a manufacturing center. The other day I happened to notice a sign on a Los Angeles building: "Paint and Ink Making Machinery." I knew there were paint factories in Los Angeles, also places where printing inks are made. But it was something of a surprise to realize that the business had grown to a magnitude justifying a machinery supply house. Los Angeles is full of surprises and they are not all for the tourists.

PLANT NOW—

Those flower pot real estate signs of the resourceful Mr. Humphries ought to be worth a pile of money to him. Their very difference catches the eye and commands attention. There is a suggestion in the slogan, "Plant your home here," that is bound to make more than a surface impression.

GREEN GOODS—

If I seem to be broken down as the result of hard labor it is Walter Poehler's fault. My lawn looked sickly a few weeks ago and I read in one of the ads he gave me that he had some good fertilizer for sale. He boosted it so enthusiastically that I invested in a sack. Now I'm glad I did not take the full prescription and apply the whole sackful. For the portion that I did apply is producing such hay crops that I may have to hire harvest help.

NO MYSTERY TO HIM—

It is always interesting to run across the chap who can "do his stuff." I happened in the Sierra Madre Electric Company store the other day. The city water department were having trouble with the motor drive on the booster pump at the Mira Monte reservoir. All the local motor experts were out of reach. So Mrs. Schreier called up the Westinghouse agency in Los Angeles. Without a moment's hesitation the man at the other end of the wire gave her full directions as to what to do. So she wrote them down, how to replace the spazinkus, and just how to regulate the gadgets with relation to the whingwhazzer. And Don Hosford took the directions up there and everything worked out according to Hoyle. That fellow down in Los Angeles may not know anything about onions, but he certainly knows his currents.

Citrus Growers! Study this Chart!

It proves that:

1. More money can be returned to all citrus growers by increasing shipments through the Exchange.
2. Exchange growers receive more money for their fruit than do non-Exchange growers.

NOTE THAT the broken line (Exchange per cent of California Orange shipments) and the solid line (Exchange average f. o. b. price per box) closely parallel each other.

This is not a mere coincidence. The tendency of outside shippers acting independently of one another is to ship heavily when the market is high. When these shipments are sold two weeks later the resulting oversupply lowers the market.

The Exchange, having prompt and accurate market information and with its shippers working together in the best position to anticipate these market declines and to minimize their effect by making light shipments. Likewise the Exchange can foretell with considerable accuracy the higher spots in the market and ship more heavily to meet them.

The alternating high and low markets shown by the price line on the chart above are the inevitable result of fluctuating supply and demand. They would be modified and the average price level stabilized and improved if the Exchange controlled a larger per cent of the total shipments.

The Exchange acts as the balance wheel for the industry, doing all it can to eliminate the alternating market gluts and shortages which are equally bad conditions for producer and consumer.

It is significant that the Exchange proportion of shipments is less when the market is entering a decline and more when the market is advancing. Growers outside the Exchange frequently have more than their share of the sales when prices are low. Exchange growers usually have a bigger percentage of total sales on higher markets. Thus Exchange growers consistently receive more money.

Grade for grade, and size for size, Exchange fruit averages higher returns because the Exchange is organized to market citrus fruit efficiently. It has the most complete market news service and the most aggressive sales organization. It "knows the market" every hour of the day and takes instant advantage of every change for the benefit of its members.

Join the Exchange—become part of it with the 11,000 other grower members who desire to see the California citrus crop efficiently marketed through one central growers' organization.

What the Exchange Is

THE California Fruit Growers Exchange is a non-profit organization of 11,000 California citrus fruit growers, producing about 75% of the California citrus crop, operated by and for them on a cooperative basis. Its object is to develop the national and international market for California oranges, lemons and grapefruit, and to provide a marketing organization that will sell the fruit of its members most advantageously and at least expense. Receipts from sales, less only actual costs of operation, are returned to growers. Applications are received through all of the Exchange's 201 local packing associations, 23 District Exchanges or at the central office in Los Angeles.

Talk to the manager of the nearest Exchange association or district Exchange. Or write for further information to California Fruit Growers Exchange, Box 530, Sta. "C," Los Angeles.

Ride All Day Sunday on a Red Car Pass

NEXT SUNDAY visit the famous beauty spots of Southern California. For transportation use a special Red Car Pass.

Start as early as you wish. Board a train at the nearest most convenient stop.

$1.00 Pass
Visit the beaches, the harbors. See the missions at San Fernando and San Gabriel. Take the El Monte Coach Company over Beverly Boulevard. Ride to Hollywood. Go anywhere west of and including Uplands, except Mt. Lowe—all on a $1.00 pass, secured from your station agent or conductor on the train.

$2.50 Pass
The $2.50 pass adds the famous Mt. Lowe mountain trolley trip, and the circle of the Pacific Empire east of Uplands to your day of traveling. It is "good" over the entire Pacific Electric system, no matter what your destination.

Thrills for You

You'll enjoy this new travel arrangement because you ride as a privileged passenger of the line. You stop, where, when and as long as you please. When ready to go again, you merely show your pass to the Red Car or Motor Coach conductor. No delay. No questions. No red tape. The complete system is at your service. You can return to your home any time Sunday evening. Your pass is valid until 2 A. M. Monday morning.

Profit by these Sunday passes. Ask them to fit your particular needs. They represent great savings over any form of travel in the Southland.

COOKING FOR CHILDREN

The average child is sensitive to the taste, temperature, texture and color of his food. Too soupy breakfast food, too salty vegetables, too hot potatoes can spoil a meal for a child who has not the Spartan endurance of a well-trained adult.

The child has a right to well-cooked meals every day. It is an injustice to the child and a probable injury to his digestion to eat properly cooked food. Hot cereals, vegetables and all other food materials should be carefully and consistently well prepared. This does not mean, however, catering to pampered tastes, although food should be served attractively. Food "dressed up" seems to taste better to the child who does not have an active appetite. The appearance to his eyes is oftentimes more potent than the taste to his tongue.

Large servings, all on one plate and touching each other (irritating to some children) often deter the poor appetite of a child. "I haven't the stomach of a gentleman" justly remonstrated a little 5-year-old when a too generous dinner plate was served her. Smaller servings in pretty dishes all one's own are a good encouragement for more food.

Novelty and variety are good sauces for children's food. A few sprinkles of colored sugars on desserts, a raisin face on a cookie, all give delight and food values, too. Floating island will go down when the soft-cooked egg will not. Spinach nests of egg or meat are eaten when spinach alone is refused. Resorting to such devices is not spoiling a child's appetite for plain food, but helping him to establish likes for the food which is taken for granted later on. Even adults enjoy a new frill to the pie crust—how much more does variety enhance food for the child!

Gave It Away

Press agents do not always train their clients wisely. There is, for instance, the now sorry lady who showed the interviewer a pair of silver candlesticks. "They were given to my great-grandmother by King — of Germany," she explained. "They are very old and valuable, all hand-carved, and have been preserved by my family through generations."

So the interviewer handled one tenderly, and just naturally turned to the mark beneath which would testify to their ancient ancestry. "Sheffield Plate, Birmingham, England, 1902," was the precious inscription. — Los Angeles Times.

Difficult Language

Pity the Finnish school boy! There are many strange things about Finland, and the strangest is the language. It properly is called either "Finno-Ugric" or "Ugro-Finnic." It is Asiatic in nature and incomprehensible except to Finns or specialists. And the specialists aver that it is probably the most difficult language in the world. For instance, a noun declines into 15 different cases! That is, every noun has 15 different forms other than those of gender and number. The cases are as follows: Nominative, adessive, ablative, illative, allative, abessive, prolativ, translative, essive, comitative and instructive.

On Being "Nice"

Being nice to people requires a virtue not unlike that which impels a hero to surrender his place in a lifeboat to some one else. Unfortunately enough, the instant it becomes a pleasure to be nice to some one you discover that they have no need of your being nice to them. People to whom it is necessary to be nice never seem altogether conscious of their position. Which provokes the awful thought that, in the eyes of others, you yourself may be one of them without knowing it.—Exchange.

Rocky Mountain Flowers

One of the great charms in the national parks in the Canadian Rockies is the variety and beauty of the wild flowers. At first thought one would perhaps not expect to find an abundant and interesting flora amid the higher altitudes, but, strange as it may seem, the wild-flower gardens which bloom above the clouds in the upper regions are among the most beautiful in the world. Over 500 varieties have been identified by botanists, and their exquisite color, fragrance, and delicate loveliness add the last touch to the charm of that wonderful region.

Music Week Observed by Wilsonites

The assembly program Friday, May 11, at the Woodrow Wilson junior high school, was indeed an interesting one, and a surprise to everyone.

First, the Junior Orchestra was presented by Mr. Gundry. Prior to this only the Senior Orchestra had appeared in assembly. Their numbers, very ably played, were "Gavotte" by Seredy-Tocuber, and Mendelssohn's "Choral."

Then the seventh grade glee club, directed by Miss Adeline Hunt, sang Bancroft's "Owl," and "The Forest Concert," by Abt. This was also their first appearance.

The Boys' Glee Club, presented by Mr. Woolnough, sang two numbers, "Aloha Oe," an Hawaiian farewell, and "A Merry Life," by Denza, with Richard MacMillan as soloist. Their encore was "Today is Monday," an absurd ditty, but always a great favorite with the soldiers.

Then came the "big" surprise. Mr. Gundry introduced his little five-year-old son, Roland Charles, who has just returned from his grandparents' home in Paris. He handled his tiny violin like a Kreisler, with long, full sweeps of the bow. His true tones were rich and melodious. His audience listened enraptured as he played "Pastorale," by Silt, and the "Minuet" by Eichhorn. For an encore he rendered Dancila's "Waltz." His father accompanied him at the piano.

Mrs. Warren E. Craig was the hostess at the very successful card party held at St. Rita's Hall Tuesday night. It was one of the regular series given by the Altar Society and attracted the usual large crowd. Refreshments and numerous prizes added to the enjoyment and interest of the occasion.

President Coolidge has signed the flood control bill designed to put an end to floods in the Mississippi Valley.

Twelve feature exhibits have already been assured for the 1928 Valencia Orange Show at Anaheim, which opens soon, bigger and more interesting than ever before, it is asserted.

Two ladies of Willis were caught in a neighbor's henroost recently. When arrested they explained they were there just for a lark, but the owner thinks they were after his chickens.

San Diego at an election Tuesday carried a bond issue of $2,313,000 for new public schools, the vote being about four to one in favor of the issue.

If the bond issue for $29,400,000 proposed for Los Angeles schools is not passed at the June 4 election, it is estimated that more than 20,000 children will have to attend classes on a half-time schedule.

Applications have been received from 250 school teachers who are anxious to join the faculty of the Glendale high school next year. There will be about 25 vacancies to be filled at the opening of the next school year, it is said.

Thanks, Folks

To those hard workers who have put their time and brains into

ALTA SIERRA MADRE I want to say thanks.

Cole, the man who puts streets down to stay; the gas company for the stub connections to each lot; the water department for their heavy mains and 4-inch fire hydrants, and for the water connections to each building site; the Edison company for putting their wires underground, thereby bringing power to each lot; Mgr. Emley of the Hello company, whose lead-covered cables can carry the gossip to the homes which will shortly grace this wonderful section of our foothill city, and Jacobson of Monrovia for the street lighting system, and the Union Metal Mfg. Co. for the electrolights.

All improvements are underground but the view and location. NOT A POLE to mar the panorama of one of the world's greatest valleys, the San Gabriel. Contour roads, proper restrictions, as regards the buildings and the uses thereof, prices that will make a speculator happy and a home-builder contented.

I have one choice estate in Alta Sierra Madre, approximately 1 and one-third acres, with room for fruit trees, tennis courts, stables, and an aeroplane landing for the price of a good lot.

Many of us buy property away from home and overlook the bargains and money-making opportunities to be made here. Next time you are driving, come up and look, see—then talk with

Yours truly,

W. R. Humphries

REALTOR—INSUROR

P. S.: I consider Alta Sierra Madre the choicest foothill section in this favored part of the world. Lots are large, prices reasonable and not published. Forty-five per cent of the sites are already sold and terms can be made to suit all who mean business.

Second P. S.: An important development adjacent to this city will be a matter of news shortly. Watch!

Third P. S.: Big deals, little deals; rentals, insurance, or just answering questions, all are a part of my work, so keep me working.

Fourth P. S.: Weeds. Fifth P. S.: Union Pacific travel service; summer rates in a few days.

under compression or in confinement, as no container could be made strong enough to resist its expansion as temperature rises. When placed in vacuum bottles with stoppers of cotton, it can be kept for hours or days before it slowly boils away.

When immersed in liquid air familiar substances show strange properties. Soft rubber becomes brittle and crumbles like china-ware. Lead becomes rigid as steel and rings when struck. Some chemical compounds change color. Roses become rigid, the petals give off a ringing sound when touched, and shatter like delicate wax. Mercury freezes solid so it can be used to drive nails.

Air being a mechanical mixture of oxygen and nitrogen, the liquid nitrogen boils away fastest, leaving nearly pure oxygen. It is in this way that oxygen is secured for commercial uses, brazing and welding being the most familiar. Pouring some liquid air over a pile of steel shavings, Prof. Watson waited a moment for the nitrogen to boil off, and then ignited the oxygen, when the steel was consumed in an intensely bright flame.

Prof. Watson concluded the entertainment with a brief plea on behalf of the scientist who devotes his time and thought to investigation of the facts of nature without thought of the commercial aspect. True, he said, the results of market value usually follow. As Faraday told Gladstone, the thing soon becomes taxable. But Prof. Watson said he believed the scientist ought to get credit in the same way the artist or musician does, without being constantly asked, "What good is it?"

The Mothers Club of the Congregational Church will hold the regular meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Ben Stinman and Mrs. Arthur Embree will be hostesses at the Stinman home, 414 Mariposa Avenue.

English Comedy Playhouse Hit

While Gilmor Brown and his big cast of "Lazarus Laughed" are playing to packed houses at the Music Box in Hollywood, another group of Pasadena Players, with Ralph Freud, associate director, are presenting an unusual English comedy, "Quinnies," at the Pasadena Community Playhouse. The story, by Horace Annesley Vachell, recites some important episodes in the life of an English antique dealer, who became so immersed in old furniture and rare pottery that he quite forgot that his daughter, Posey, was growing up, and was ignorant of her love affair with James Miggott.

Ralph Freud takes the part of Quinnie, Dolly Green as Posey, and Robert Young, Miggott.

A movement is on foot to reorganize the chamber of commerce at Covina. Whether to keep the membership small with high dues or large with small dues is a matter that will have to be decided. The chamber has been inactive for more than a year.

No Long Beach high school student who belongs to or joins any fraternity or secret club after Sept. 14 will be permitted to participate in next year's graduation exercises or in any interschool activity.

Dedicatory services for the new Santa Clara Mission at Santa Clara College were held Sunday morning. The new mission is erected on the site of the mission destroyed by fire Oct. 25, 1926.

Next year's auto license plates will be black and orange, and a new numbering system, using letters of the alphabet, will be used. Forty-five carloads of plates will be needed to supply the needs of California motorists.
